MARY LEE

Mr. and Mrs. Norman I. Lee are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine 8-pound son on Sunday.

A man driving C. E. Taylor's automobile was arrested Saturday afternoon for not having his license tag properly displayed. Squire Fred W. Hauer fined him $15 for the offense.

Mr. H. A. Wallingford, Jr., of Cincinnati spent Sunday with his father, Colonel H. A. Wallingford.

MARCH TERM OF CIRCUIT COURT ADJOURNS

The March term of the Mason Circuit Court was adjourned Saturday afternoon by Circuit Judge C. D. Newell. Before closing Howard St. Clair was sentenced by Judge Newell to serve two years in the penitentiary for forgery and Elmer Williams was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year for house burning. In the case of Platt's Administrators against the C. & O. Railroad an appeal to the Court of Appeals was granted.

DAVID HECHINGER

Pioneer Clothing Merchant of Maysville Passed Away at Home on West Front Street Early Sunday Morning After Short Illness of Acute Indigestion.

Mr. David Hechinger, eighty-one years old, one of the oldest clothing merchants in the state of Kentucky, and pioneer in this city's clothing trade, passed away at his home on West Front street Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock after a short illness of acute indigestion.

Mr. Hechinger was taken suddenly ill at his place of business on West Second street Saturday morning about 10:30 o'clock. His son, Mr. Ferdinand Hechinger, ordered a carriage for him to ride home in, but he refused and walked the entire distance unaccompanied. He began to suffer and a doctor was called, and although he did everything in his power it was of no avail and he passed away at the hour mentioned above. At the time of his death he was surrounded by his entire family and he retained consciousness until the last, realizing that the end was near.

To Mr. Hechinger belonged the distinction of having been in business in Maysville longer than any of his contemporaries. His identification with the commercial and mercantile life of this place having extended over more than half a century. Maysville has been indeed fortunate to possess among her business men a citizen of his type, for he has ever been progressive, of sound business methods, of absolute honesty, charitable and generous, his career having had a salutary effect in a wide circle of influence.

As his name indicates, Mr. Hechinger is German, his nativity having occurred in the province of Rhenish Prussia June 17, 1835. The names of his parents were Joseph and Sophia (Felsel) Hechinger. The former died when David was a young lad and the mother with her two sons and a daughter sailed for America in 1844, three years after the death of the father.

The mother came to Baltimore, Maryland, where she had friends residing, believing that her children would find greater opportunity awaiting them in the newer country. David was reared to young manhood in Baltimore and there received his education attending the common schools.

When he became 15 years of age he entered the ranks of the wage earners as a clerk in a clothing store for several years, or until 1860. In the meantime his sister had married Mr. G. H. Hum, who was engaged in business in this city. He induced Mr. Hechinger to come to this location and assist him, which he did in the year 1860. He arrived with thirty-five cents in his pocket, but despite his limited capital received a partnership in his brother-in-law's business. Mr. Hum subsequently retired and died a few years ago in Baltimore, Md., and until 1888 the firm was known as Hechinger Bros. Several minor changes occurred in the business in the next few years, but in 1890 the firm was changed to D. Hechinger & Co., and has been called that since that time. For the past several years Mr. Hechinger's son, Ferdinand, and Mr. William Truitt, Jr., have associated with the business. For sixty-six years Mr. Hechinger has been in business here and during his stay there has never been a time that his store has not been as solid as a rock and his word regarded as a government bond.

Mr. Hechinger was generous as well as just and his kind heart won for him many loyal admirers. No worthy cause or worthy person ever appealed to him and went away empty handed. In this, as he himself put it, was incorporated his religion. Every church erected in Maysville since he came here has been helped financially by him. He was reared in the Jewish faith and was a firm believer in his religion. He was very prominent and popular in fraternal circles, being a Royal Arch Mason, Knights of Pythias and Elk. He and Mr. J. James Woods were the only surviving charter members of the Mason County Building Association.

In 1864 Mr. Hechinger was united in marriage to Miss Louisa Cochran, blessed by the birth of three children. The eldest, Joseph, died December 20, 1907, aged 45 years. Rotta is the wife of Mr. B. G. Fox of Baltimore, Md., and Ferdinand is a member of the firm of D. Hechinger & Co. Mr. Hechinger was the only surviving member of his family, his mother having died in 1882. He is also survived by two granddaughters—Miss Rebecca Hechinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Hechinger of this city, and Miss Louise Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Fox of Baltimore.

The funeral arrangements will be announced tomorrow.

CHARLES SMITH DIES AT CLEVELAND, OHIO

Mr. Charles Earl Smith, aged 29 years, formerly of this city, died at his home in Cleveland, Ohio, Saturday night about 8 o'clock after a short illness of tuberculosis.

Mr. Smith was formerly chief clerk in the local Postoffice and while here was always known as a young man of sterling qualities and plenty of hustle. He had a host of friends here who are grieved to learn of his untimely death. About two years ago Mr. Smith accepted a position with the H. T. Moore Paint Co. in Cleveland and was highly esteemed by that firm.

He is survived by his father, Mr. Charles Smith of Lexington, one sister, Mrs. Carl McDonald, and one brother, Robert Smith, both of this city. His wife and infant daughter preceded him to the grave several years ago.

His remains were brought here Sunday night on C. & O. train No. 4 and were taken direct to the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. C. Pecor, on West Second street, from whence the funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with services by Rev. John Barbour of the First Presbyterian Church. Interment in Maysville Cemetery.

DEATH OF MRS. W. W. STUBBLEFIELD

Mrs. Anna Stubblefield, aged 38 years, died at her home in Hectorville Saturday night about 8:30 o'clock after a protracted illness. She is survived by her husband, Mr. William Stubblefield, and seven children. The funeral was held from her late home this morning at 10 o'clock. Burial in the Maysville cemetery.

MR. SAMUEL MIDDLEMAN ILL

Mr. Samuel Middleman, the local junk dealer, suffered a nervous breakdown Saturday and is now seriously ill at his home on Limestone street. Mr. Middleman has been ill for some time but grew suddenly worse Saturday. He was reported somewhat better this morning.

LARGEST EVER

Was the Attendance For "Go-to-Sunday-School" Day in the Maysville Sunday Schools—Total Attendance Was 2,517.

Kentucky's third annual "Go-to-Sunday-School" Day was crowned with the largest attendance ever in the other places over the state did as well as Maysville. The total attendance Sunday was 2,517 as compared with 2,460 for the same day last year, a gain of 57.

The outpourings at the various schools showed that much work had been done in preparation for the day and proved that "Go-to-Sunday-School" Day had become an annual event of much importance.

Some of the schools had excellent special programs arranged for the occasion and all were carried out splendidly, to the satisfaction, enjoyment and benefit of those present. At the other schools the regular programs were handled in a way that made people feel that they were missing something by not attending Sunday School.

It is thought that the present campaign will make at least 10,000 regular scholars in the schools of the state who have not been regular attendants before this time.

Following is the attendance at the Maysville schools Sunday as compared with the same Sunday last year:

SCHOOL	1915	1916
Christian	487	465
Baptist	477	492
First M. E. Church, South	255	235
Third Street M. E.	246	225

Our Mr. David Hechinger

TODAY IS THE DAY

Women who have waited for our semi-annual clearance are being rewarded in seeing their clothes allowance do almost double duty and still buy this season's most desirable suits. But don't wait. Come in today to see our splendid values for $11.25 to $26.25. All suits are 25 per cent less than regular price.

FILL UP THE HANDKERCHIEF BOX

Summer brings increased business in the handkerchief department and we have a splendid stock to meet it. Dozens of plain practical socks, even more of the dainty one-corner embroideries, pretty colored edge effects, with prices all the way from 5c to 50c. Look through the stock and see what very pretty "giveable" dainty handkerchiefs you will find for simple little presents or card prizes.

HUNT QUALITY

Price counts when buying a rug. But other things count; some of them for more than price. Quality is one of the things. We place quality first. That means quality of yarn, of design, of workmanship. The three stand together and make Hunt rugs special values. Women who appreciate quality know they get a full hundred cents worth for every dollar they pay for Hunt rugs. We have an unusually large stock of rugs this season and cordially invite you to inspect it before making your spring selection. Our name as well as the manufacturers is sufficient guarantee as to quality and price. Hearth size 75c to $5. Room sizes $5.90 to $50. A special display of rugs on our second floor invites your attention.

1852 HUNT'S 1916

Mr. R. M. Nelson of Lexington spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon N. Nelson of East Second street.
The Sewing Society of the Central Presbyterian Church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. D. C. C. Franklin on East Third street.
Mrs. Rufus Knight, who has been a patient at Hayswood Hospital was able to return to her home in Sharpsburg Sunday.
Hugh McKibben, aged 21, and Gladys Booth, both of Tifford, were married by Squire Fred W. Hauer at the Court House Saturday afternoon.

New Sport Stripe Suitings

In the best styles of colorings. A pretty hat to match if you want it. White Chamorsette Gloves in plain white and black stitching, one of the scarcest articles in the market today, but we have them now in all sizes.

Some new styles in white and colored shoes and slippers just in, in fact something new arrives daily at our store.

WHO BUTCHERED BRYAN?

The butchering of Bryan in the Nebraska primaries is as easily traceable to its source as the famous killing of Cock Robin, and the witnesses are more numerous.

Bryan was slaughtered in his home state by the adherents of Wilson, and there are no signs of regret echoing from the White House because of the result. Bryan made Wilson four years ago, to be sure, but there has never been a minute when Wilson felt truly grateful. On the contrary, he always chafed under the consideration of Bryan's power in the party; and he was glad when occasion permitted him to raise a false issue upon which Bryan left the cabinet. The contemplation of Bryan in the Democratic national convention of 1916 has never been a pleasing prospect to Wilson, for he has vivid knowledge of Bryan's ability to sway conventions in his own manner of thinking. And Bryan's manner of thinking is not Wilson's manner, nor are Bryan's principles the principles of Wilson. We do not doubt that the quiet tip was sent from the White House to Nebraska to defeat Bryan.

Bryan, accordingly, has been defeated—but only for a seat in the St. Louis convention. The treachery of the Wilson men in Nebraska has temporarily overcome the unsuspecting friends of Bryan but the latter will be more alert next time. Their hour will come when they go to the polls in November. They will not forget who butchered Bryan this spring—and the fall killing which they will make will be gratifyingly gory.

GO TO CHURCH ON MOTHER'S DAY.

A number of ministers and others interested in the advancement of religious thought and activities in Huntington have suggested that it might be well to undertake a movement calling upon the people of Huntington to make particular effort to attend church on Mother's Day, which is the second Sunday in May. There is something in this that should appeal with specific force to all. It is a good thing and a fine thing to attend church on any Sabbath or any other favorable occasion that might offer. But it is a finer, a better thing to mingle the memory of home and mother with the feelings which naturally attach to an hour spent in the church. Mother and home are the dwelling place of the finer sentiments, and the spirit of the church in the home is the greatest moral influence which affords soil for the propagation of the spirit which sustains the church and which manifests on earth the Omnipotent powers which dwell in the church. It is some time yet until Mother's Day. But it is not too early to think it over. While thinking it over, think if it would not be a good thing to go to church on this day, too. SENATOR HARDING'S STATEMENT OF ISSUES IN 1916 CAMPAIGN.

Senator Harding, in stating the three principal planks of the forthcoming Republican national platform, names the tariff, preparedness and maintenance of our national rights, and on one who is familiar with conditions in the country today or who correctly forecasts the future can doubt the accuracy of the Senator in his naming of the issues.

How will the Democratic party meet these issues, and in what shape will its record under the present administration allow it to meet these issues?

The Enquirer has repeatedly pressed upon the Democratic leaders the vital importance of adherence to the declarations of the last Democratic national platform, because they were right, because they were pledges to the American people, because they were in the interests of the great majority of that people. The Enquirer has during the past three years stood for that platform in its entirety; stood for the carrying out of the pledges as to freedom from tolls for American coastwise vessels passing through the Panama canal; stood for exact and literal adherence by the Democratic administration, and the Democratic party to the platform declaration.

"The constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them on our borders and go with them throughout the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States government for himself and his property."

The Enquirer has also urged repeatedly upon the administration and the party leaders to carry out that pledge of forty years' reiteration, "a tariff for revenue," and constantly for the past ten years has urged that the country be placed in state of full preparedness for defense as against foreign foes.

Has the Democratic party been strengthened by the repeal of the anti-tolls law, the striking down of that protection to our coastwise marine and the repudiation of that plank of the Democratic platform?

Has the Democratic party been aided by the actual repudiation of its platform declaration that "the constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them on our borders and go with them throughout the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States government both for himself and his property?"

That was Democratic doctrine in 1912; why not in 1913, 1914, 1915 and 1916?

It was Democratic doctrine under Jefferson, under Madison, under Jackson, under Cleveland, and it is the old, square, straight American doctrine in every year of this country's existence.

There is no doubt of the position of the masses of the Democratic party, for they stated the party's position upon all vital issues in the platform of 1912. How could the administration's record be so completely at variance with the platform?

Every manufacturer fearing "the dumping" of the output of cheap European and Asiatic labor upon markets in the United States when war closes, and millions of American working people knowing that a dumping means loss of employment, and poverty in the home, what is the Democratic record as to "the tariff for revenue" and how the administration and the Democratic Congress carried out that venerable pledge to the American people?

Has the imposition of war taxes in time of peace impressed the people of the United States favorably as to Democratic legislation?

Would it not have been better, fairer to the party, the people and the country if the revenues promised through the tariff had been raised in accordance with the Democratic pledge?

Senator Harding and other leaders of the Republican party have chosen when they deem the popular political issues and propose to make them more effective weapons against the Democratic party.

If the declarations of the Baltimore platform had been carried out, the Republicans would be without any issues in 1916—Cincinnati Enquirer.

WOMAN WEAK, DIZZY, NERVOUS

Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Jamaica, N. Y.—"I suffered greatly with my head and with backache, was weak, dizzy, nervous, with hot flashes and felt very miserable, as I was irregular for two years. One day when I was feeling unusually bad my sister-in-law came in and said, 'I wish you would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.' So I began taking it and I am now in good health and am cured. I took the Compound three times a day after meals, and on retiring at night. I always keep a bottle in the house."—Mrs. L. N. BURNHAM, 35 Globe Ave., Jamaica, N. Y.

Women who recover their health naturally tell others what helped them. Some write and allow their names and photographs to be published with testimonials. Many more tell their friends.

If you need a medicine for Women's Ailments, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) for anything you need to know about these troubles.

The bridge in front of the home of Mr. J. H. Elliott which was destroyed in May, 1915, is now being replaced.

School at Pleasant Hill closed last Friday. Mr. M. C. Hutchison endeavored himself to his pupils and all agree that an excellent school was taught. The closing exercises were brief but pleasing, and the bountiful treat made glad the hearts of all the little ones and many of the patrons as well.

The Sunday school at Bethany grows in interest. The contest waxes warm. Sometimes the blues are ahead, then the Reds. The attendance has passed the 100 mark. The church is also growing spiritually. The regular Lord's Day worship is well attended and the midweek prayer meeting on Wednesday evening is also, considering the members are farmers, and of course, are very busy. Altogether, the Lord's work is being carried on there in a praiseworthy manner.

Mrs. Mary A. Degmann attended a birthday dinner at the home of Mrs. Matilda Craig at her home in Lewis county last Sunday. Mrs. Craig is 88 years of age. There were more than 100 guests to wish the young-old lady many happy returns of the day.

Mr. W. W. Hook and son John J. were business visitors to Maysville Monday.

Mr. Walker of Manchester, O., and his family of four, were guests at the home of Mr. Dan Webster last week.

Mrs. Will Leaning and Mrs. Laura Leaning went to Maysville Sunday to hear the Easter cantata at the Third Street M. E. church.

Miss Ora Lee Elliott is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. James Smith, near Stonefork.

It is a pleasure to record that the attractive little church building at Plumville is again open for the purpose for which it was built, i. e., the worship of God. A Sunday school is now conducted there at 3 p. m., every Lord's Day, and on the first Lord's Day of each month Rev. E. Gladdock of Brown county, O., preaches in the morning and evening.

Mrs. C. U. Degmann returned home last week after a lengthy visit with relatives and friends in the Stonefork neighborhood.

Mrs. G. W. Hook and mother visited the family of their relative, Mr. J. W. Tully, near Cottageville, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gladding, and Miss Nora Lee Weaver, have gone to housekeeping in the east end. We welcome them to our vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Howard have moved into their pretty new home near the junction.

An article of food universally popular in Japan is the Japanese pickle, made principally of garlic vegetables, especially the large Japanese radish. Cucumbers, eggplants, small turnips and greens of various sorts go to make up this apparently vital accessory of Japanese meals. It is made by pickling the various articles in salt with a paste of powdered rice bran and some vinegar, and to most foreigners the taste and smell are all objectionable.

There has been organized in Yucatan an association of small hemp producers along the lines of the California Fruit Growers' Association, its purpose being to enable each hemp producer to obtain a fair price for his product at all times, regardless of speculation.

MORE PEOPLE KILLED YEARLY IN NEW YORK STREETS THAN AT BULL RUN.

(New York World.)

The police figures of street accidents and highway accidents in 1915, show a total of 649 deaths, a greater number than the Union army suffered at Bull Run, and 21,891 injured, considerably exceeding the list of Union wounded at Gettysburg.

As a lethal agency the trolley car is now outclassed; it slew a victim every five days, seventy-seven in all. The passenger motor car forged far ahead with 177 deaths. Even the staid motor truck and delivery wagon for the first time passed the horse-drawn business wagon by 105 to 100. Old-fashioned carriages killed only three, an amazing contrast.

Motor car accidents are commonest in October; "everybody in town" weather is tempting, daylight for dodging is much shorter than in April. But from "hooking-on" and other causes July's grand total is greatest. Falls are much more frequent in December and January. Is it from ice or holiday festivities? And why did bicycles kill three and motorcycles none?

Analysis may explain; it can not excuse. There is no reason why New York should endure the slaughter of two human beings every day in the battle of the streets. Particularly grave is the fact that a class of vehicle driven for pleasure should kill 100 more persons in a year than the surface cars, that carry great masses of inhabitants to and from their daily toil.

BACK-TO-THE-LAND COLONIES.

Lonesomeness, lack of opportunity for social life, poor marketing facilities, have been among the strongest objections to and the most obvious causes of failure in the back-to-the-land movement. People from the bustling, crowded cities couldn't endure the isolation of country life even though it took them from the wretched tenements. And they couldn't make their farming a success on land cut off from transportation by poor location.

To overcome these difficulties by constructive assistance is the work of the National Forward-to-the-Land League. The league has a wide range of activity. In the first place it stands ready to give unbiased advice concerning the quality of the land the prospective farmer is considering and its location in regard to transportation. It advises people of small means to buy where there are at least fifty similar holdings. It sends land instructors and market experts to teach these communities how to co-operate as a business unit in managing the cultivation of their land and in handling their produce.

The league, assisted by the Commissioner of Education at Washington, organizes a modern rural school around which the social life of adults as well as young people may be centered. A Y. M. C. A. secretary, a sanitary engineer, recreation grounds and a director for them are some of the advantages the league plans to make possible for these little communities.

Of course, when the league advises people to make the change from urban to rural life it tries to select people who are fitted for such a change. And it makes provision for some practical preliminary training and education for the new work. Its advice is cheerfully and genuinely helpful and seeks to facilitate adjustment to the new environment. It is an excellent project, deserving the support of all who recognize the problem and are wise enough to be interested in its solution.

AGED GRANDMOTHER

So Weak She Could Hardly Stand—
Made Strong By Vinol.

Right here in Mayaville we have seen such excellent results from Vinol that it is a pleasure to know it is doing so much good for old people in Woodbridge, N. J. "My Grandma was recovering from the grippe and was so weak she could hardly stand, and as she keeps house for my father and myself, she could not get around at all. She had taken cod liver oil and many other medicines, but nothing seemed to do her any good. At last we heard of Vinol and tried it, and Grandma commenced to feel better right away, and got strong very soon, so she gets around as well as ever. We all praise Vinol for it is a splendid medicine." Myrtle H. Dunn.

The reason Vinol is so successful in restoring strength to the aged is because of the rare combination of tonic iron, the curative medicinal extractives of fresh cods' livers, beef peptone and mild native wine. It supplies iron to the blood, quickens the appetite, aids digestion, promotes proper assimilation of food, and enriches the blood and brings back the strength of renewed health.

The Daily Oklahoman's column of "state paragraphs" gleaned on a recent day from newspapers bearing the following picturesque titles: Okmulgee Democrat, Checotah Times, Achillea Press, Muskogee Phoenix, Red Rock Record, Antlers American, Custer City Courier and Comanche American.

An effort is being made to convert the picturesque island of Teracholling, on the northwest coast of Holland, and separated from the Friesland by a narrow strait, into a summer watering place. It is already visited by several hundred tourists each year, but lacks certain conveniences which, it is argued, might be readily supplied.

The man who rushes recklessly through life enjoys it about as much as the sixty-mile-an-hour motorist enjoys the beauties of the country through which he is traveling.

When a man begins to argue with his conscience as to whether a thing is right or wrong, the chances are that it is wrong.

THICKS OF THE HIGH LEAGUE PITCHERS.

In the Woman's Home Companion is an article on pitching baseball curves by C. H. Claudy. In it he says: "Few big league pitchers depend on many varieties of curve to 'fool' the batter. No matter what the effect of a wide and sweeping curve may be upon one of your team mates, a curve ball in the big league is as easy to hit as a straight one, provided the batter knows it is coming. But when a good pitcher gets to 'work' on a batter, he doesn't let him know what is coming. With two strikes and three balls almost may major league batter is entitled to believe that the next pitch will be a 'fast one splitting the plate.' But if the pitcher has his nerve with him, it may be a sudden inshoot. Expecting the natural straight ball, and finding about a tenth of a second before the ball get to the plate that it is jumping toward him, the batter has no time to change his 'set' and strikes out.

"The essence of any 'fooling' delivery, then, is its unexpectedness. To make use of this feature, control of the 'fooling' delivery is necessary.

"And the easiest curve to control is the curve that is pitched most naturally.

"That is why the big league pitcher doesn't try to master the curves of every other pitcher, but sticks to those he can do best. The greatest pitcher of the game is famous for his 'fade-away,' the ball that withers and dies in the plate after starting like a cannon ball. But for every 'fade-away' that Matty over threw, he pitched a dozen straight or fast or slow balls.

"And they all come from the same motion. No batter can tell by looking at Matty getting ready, winding up, and pitching, what is going to 'come up' to him. It is not knowing until the last fraction of a second whether the ball will go waist high, plump into the catcher's mitt, or weakly drop off to one side, which makes the 'fade-away' a terror.

The Brazilian government has decided to erect wireless telegraph stations in the Rio Grande do Sul, Senna Madureira, Santa Catharina, Soa Thomo, Cruzello, do Sul, Rio Branco, Soa Luiz de Caceres and Porto Murtilho. Steps are being taken to organize a general scheme of radio telegraphy, both on the coast and in the interior.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Some People We Know, and We Will Profit By Hearing About Them.

This is a purely local event. It took place in Mayaville. Not in some faraway place. You are asked to investigate it. Asked to believe a citizen's word; To confirm a citizen's statement. Mrs. Dora Mefford, Mayaville, says: "I had been feeling poorly for some time before I knew that my kidneys were at fault. I was nervous and dizzy and my back and head ached. I rested poorly and mornings I was all tired out. I read in a local paper how a neighbor had been cured of kidney trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills. I used them and before long I felt stronger and better and I slept good at night."

THE TARIFF A PARAMOUNT ISSUE

Washington, D. C.—The results of the primary election in Michigan and in Wisconsin have excited no little comment here. In the case of the former, Mr. Ford's large support is shown conclusively to come in large measure from the city of Detroit where his own employees are numbered by the tens of thousands; and the consequent result upon the vote of the state, where only a listless interest was manifest, is looked upon as merely in the light of a personal tribute to Mr. Ford.

In Wisconsin, however, a far different interpretation is put upon the failure of Senator LaFollette to secure the full endorsement of his fellow Republicans for his presidential aspirations. Not a few are asking if it means that the Senator has finally lost his grip at home. LaFollette's career in Wisconsin has been one of steady misfortune of power. From the days of his first attempt to secure the governorship down through his stirring activities as an executive and later as Senator and the leader of his party as the dominant power in the state, he has never failed to demonstrate his control. It is remembered, of course, that he was unsuccessful in his purpose to defeat Governor McGovern in the senatorial primaries in 1914, when the issue was drawn between the Governor and an adherent of LaFollette—but it is also recalled that a LaFollette man, running on nomination papers, brought about McGovern's downfall at the polls and gave one of the three additional Senators with whom the Democrats have swollen their majority in the upper house. But, taken by and large, LaFollette has of right considered himself invulnerable at home.

This primary, however, has afforded the first opportunity to make a direct test of his standing with his constituents since he gave the only tie public vote for the passage of the Underwood tariff in the Senate. Wisconsin has felt the effects of the Underwood tariff, in common with many other states—and it is believed here that LaFollette's failure to carry more than a bare majority in his state this spring is in more or less direct consequence of his co-operation with the Democrats in striking down protection in the Senate. If this conclusion is correct it emphasizes to an unusual degree the extent to which protection is lodged in the minds of the voters as a cardinal issue in this year's presidential canvass.

Facts are stubborn things and they will prove to be exceedingly stubborn obstructions in the path of Democratic campaigners next fall. The record made by the present national administration shows that in a ten months' period before the war in Europe, and while the Democratic tariff was in full force and effect, foreign producers of agricultural products shipped into this country $174,600,000 worth of products as compared with $72,600,000 in a corresponding ten months period while the Republican tariff law was in effect. This was an increase of $102,000,000, or about 150 per cent. These imports necessarily tended to cut the price paid to the American producer. At the same time, the records of this administration show that the cost of living in this country was not reduced, but on the contrary slightly increased. The producer received for his commodities a less figure than he would have received but for the tariff protection, but the consumer bought goods at no less a price.

THE LOST LETTER

By CLARA BREVOORT.

Uncle Dick listened for a minute at the foot of the stairs. At last Jimmie was asleep. Evidently the hot water bottle and toothache medicine had done their work, for the moans and groans had stopped. Jimmie's mother had slipped away a few minutes before, leaving Uncle Dick in charge.

"Poor Dick!" she reflected as she departed. "He hasn't been himself since Mary Hemstead went away in the fall. Here it's almost April and he hasn't had any word from her yet. I can't understand it at all. I always had an idea that she promised to give Dick an answer in that letter he'd looked for so eagerly and that has never come."

The front door stood open and the breeze came in soft and warm from the south. The sun, too, was as bright and the sky as blue as June.

Near the shed door stood an old fishing rod. Dick walked over and picked it up. The soft wind and blue sky and the whole outdoors were calling him toward the river.

Jimmie and his toothache were forgotten while he made his way down the muddy road with the fishing rod over his shoulder and a bucket of bait in his hand.

As he turned off the road to go through the broken place in the Hemstead's fence, and thence through the hickory grove toward the river, he heard a horse behind him. He turned and looked straight into the startled blue eyes of Mary Hemstead. But while he stood paralyzed, the look in the blue eyes changed instantly to one of contempt as her horse galloped by.

Mary home! Could it really be the girl who had teasingly promised him his answer in the first letter on horse visit West.

He turned blindly toward the river and when he finally reached the place, threw himself down dejectedly on a rock and tried to think.

Meanwhile, Jimmie had a nice comfortable nap, thanks to his mother's doctoring and a quiet house, after which he yawned and hopped out of bed, yelling for someone to come and put his clothes on him.

No one answered. Jimmie went down stairs to investigate the silence. There was no one there, but the front door was open and the soft, warm wind that blew in felt delicious. Jimmie went out on to the porch.

What a bully wind for a kite, and here he'd been shut up all day missing it! Suddenly he remembered he had no kite. Yesterday it had hooked on top of the red oak and stuck there. Jimmie started for the tree, the wind blowing his night gown around his bare legs and feet. The soft ground coaxed up through his toes and he squealed delightedly. But the water in the creek was cold—too cold to wade through! Ouch!

He knew the very thing! Uncle Ned's boots! Back to the house and into Uncle Ned's room. He knew where the boots were—in a corner of the cupboard. He carried them to the porch and tried to put them on. They were miles too high and too heavy. Out of one boot shot something that had been white. Now it was dirty, wrinkled and twisted. Jimmy grabbed it and tore away the outside. "Well, I'll use this old letter for a kite, if I can't get mine. Where's that string I had?"

The creek and boots were forgotten. Jimmie, still in midnight attire, defied the proprieties and the toothache, by dancing gleefully all over the farm with his homemade kite.

Over in the Hemstead yard Mary was pondering about the look of misery in Dick Randall's eyes as she had passed him. It was almost time to feed the chickens, and she started for the granary.

What in the world could that be tearing along the fence and yelling at something in the air?

Sharp of wit and speedy of limb, Mary soon had little Jimmy in her arms. She wrapped her apron about him and carried him back to her house, the kite trailing on the ground.

"Bless his heart, he's got a letter for a kite," said her mother. Mary grabbed it up suddenly.

"Jimmie, where did you get this?" "Out of Uncle Ned's boots," he giggled. "I just found it!"

Mary made suddenly for the door. A few minutes later Dick heard the twigs breaking near him, but did not look around. It mattered little who was coming.

Suddenly two soft, warm hands covered his eyes and Mary's own sweet voice whispered:

"Guess who it is!"

Bewildered, he reached up and touched her hands.

"I've come," she cried gayly, releasing him, "to deliver some belated mail, and after all I think I'm glad you didn't get my letter until now. Dick, I want to see if you look sufficiently happy when you read it. Jimmie just found it in Ned's old boot. He must have dropped it there when he was carrying the mail to the house the day it came, and here I've been wondering and wondering why."

But Dick had heard enough. Just what Mary had been wondering didn't matter half so much just then as the seal he put upon her willing lips.

Good Reason. "Why do autocratic governments try to muzzle the press?" "They don't want it to make any biting comments."

Work and the world is with you.

NEED CARE IN COOKING

CEREALS MUST BE PREPARED WITH EXACTITUDE.

To Bring Out the Full Food Value of the Grain Requires Skill and Thought on the Part of the Housewife.

We have no fault to find with the many excellently prepared and so-called cooked cereals which from time to time are found appetizing and agreeable in appearance, but there is also need of cereals which require long-continued cooking to extract the full value of the grain and bring it to a delicious creaminess. In this class are oatmeal, wheat, hominy, rice and corn. By whatever name the various ground preparations are called, they all need continued, intense cooking to burst the starch cells, soften the surrounding husk tissues, and make them thoroughly fit for human food.

Cracked wheat is a coarse form of wheat with a particularly nutty flavor. So-called "whole" or "pinhead" oatmeal has advantages over the more usual "rolled" form. Good hominy, which is now no longer prepared with lye, is another breakfast food which should be more frequently used. Cornmeal, although fallen into disrepute and considered common, perhaps, is one of the best of cool weather cereals. It is rich in starch and fat and thus is a heat-producing quality.

Oatmeal is the one cereal containing the largest amount of protein or muscle-forming nutriment. That is, it is comparable to meat or any cereals, and contains less starch. It is therefore, perhaps, the cereal which should be most frequently given to the growing child. The whole grain must be soaked all day and then steamed several hours, but in this form it furnishes a splendid and sufficient breakfast cereal.

Next to oatmeal comes wheat with a higher per cent of starch. It should, however, be used in as nearly the natural state as possible—that is, the cracked grain with the outer coat remaining to which are stored the important mineral elements which make bone and the best kind of tissue. Hominy is almost entirely starch and therefore needs the most perfect cooking in order that the starch shells may be adequately burst and cooked.

For all of these cereals either a steam cooker or a fireless cooker is preferable. Given a half hour's quick boiling at night they may be placed in the fireless cooker, preferably with the heated radiator under them, and allowed to cook slowly with the retained heat of the fireless. Sufficient water should always be put on them to allow perfect swelling of each grain. Such cereals, when properly cooked, are not a "mush" but of a uniform, creamy consistency. It may take time or rather a little more effort to cook cereals properly, but the effort is more than repaid in the quality of the food. The cool weather cereal should be a point of special care with the housewife.

Curried Oysters. Drain and wash 25 oysters. Make on an ordinary pancake griddle. Throw the oysters, three or four at a time, on the griddle and brown on both sides. Lift quickly and place in a double boiler, which stands beside the griddle. When all the oysters are cooked add to them one tablespoonful of flour, one-half tablespoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of curry powder and a dash of cayenne pepper. Stir until the ingredients reach the boiling point and add one tablespoonful of lemon juice and one small onion grated.

Spanish Rice. Have ready a saucepan in which are two tablespoonfuls of nice hot dripping. Throw in a half cupful of well-washed rice and toss about until nicely browned. Add one sliced tomato, one sliced onion and a clove of garlic and brown slightly. Cover the whole with hot water, season with salt and pepper. Cover and let the rice cook thoroughly, adding more water as needed. Do not stir, as the beauty of it lies in the plump brown unbroken kernels.

Paprika Potatoes. Select large potatoes for baking. As soon as done slice crosswise, once each way to the depth of an inch. Turn up the ends of the skin loosened and with a fork loosen the potato well inside; season with salt and add a generous pinch of butter, plenty of paprika. Stand in the oven for a moment and serve.

Mixed Lamb With Peppers. Add one shredded sweet pepper to remnants of cold lamb which have been chopped fine. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter in a hot frying pan, add the lamb and peppers, season well and dredge thoroughly with flour. Then add enough stock to moisten. Serve on small squares of buttered toast.

Handy Kitchen Tool. A fruit jar wrench is an implement which is serviceable the year around and costs but a dime. The metal levers are hinged together at one end and each bears riveted clamps to clasp the sides of the jar lid. Just press the handles together and you have a firm grip.

For Chocolate Stains. Borax, slightly moistened and left on the fabric for several hours, will remove chocolate stains from white dresses and table linens.

Stupid men are never dissatisfied.

Instead of the unsightly and often unheeded traffic sign, the city of Alhambra, Cal., has adopted a more striking and ornamental device for warning pedestrians and vehicle drivers. railway. Accidents might be very numerous at this point were it not for the five-light electricolor with both red and white frosted globes, the white lights overlooking the boulevard side, and the red illuminating the electric road. This pleasing device is conspicuous day and night, and a driver is indeed reckless who would overlook this warning.—Popular Science Monthly and World's Advance.

POINT FOR ROAD BUILDERS

Not Always Well to Deviate From Straight Line, Even in an Effort to Get Variety.

The guiding principle in designing the position of roads and walks is utility. Nature forms no roads. They are the work of men and animals, and would undoubtedly always proceed in nearly straight lines from point to point if obstructions of various kinds did not interfere and cause deviations. Necessity will therefore suggest where and how they should be introduced. So far as regards approaches and walks to and from buildings, the object of their introduction is sufficiently apparent; but, in laying out pleasure grounds, it is a too common practice to introduce walks for the mere purpose of variety. This is a very questionable reason at best, and not always successfully accomplished, but even in cases of this kind, they should appear to aim for some definite object, or lead to points of sufficient importance to suggest their utility.

Know Your Garden Flowers.

The true way to enjoy flowers is to get on intimate terms with them. Know them by name, know their characteristics. Learn to love them and make them a part of your life. Then the flowers breathe their secrets, and you learn little by little that they are living things—keen companions and friends. Those who work with flowers know of other things than seeds and bulbs—hope and faith and love; strength, inspiration and happiness. They gather in more than the blushing flowers themselves. They gather health and wealth and nature's revealed secrets. How natural it is, then, that those who work with flowers should be big and strong and good and kind. They are very close to the heart of life—and nature.

American Academy of Arborists. New York city is official headquarters for an organization bearing this title, and a most exclusive membership, for, be it known to all men (we presume women are barred) that "this is not a society to which anyone may belong who contributes a membership fee," but one wherein the members may feel justly proud of their certificate of membership. The ordinary tree-lover will, therefore, be up a tree, figuratively speaking, for which reason we will not ask for a local branch, for here, where the trees of the whole world find a home, we must include in the membership all who will join.

Sulphur in New Zealand. Sulphur deposits are found on White Island, in the Bay of Plenty, on the coast of the North Island of New Zealand, about 30 miles from the mainland. This island, which covers about 600 acres, attains a height of 900 feet on one side and opens to the sea on the other. Its topography indicates an old crater, and the boiling lake on the island, which is one of the awe-inspiring sights of New Zealand, is a further evidence of volcanism. The New Zealand Sulphur company had spent $100,000 in preparation for mining sulphur in this locality a volcanic disturbance wrecked the camp and killed ten men.

Need of Co-Operation. No town can prosper as it should unless its business men will co-operate with each other in bringing business to the town. Get them here and if you cannot sell them, let the other fellow do so. The man with the hammer has a proper place, but it is in building more houses, not in tearing down.—Kilgore Chronicle.

Silence is golden, noise is brass.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

For the Late David Heebinger Passed A Meeting of Mason County Building and Savings Association Held Sunday.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Mason County Building and Savings Association held on Sunday afternoon, May 7th, 1916, called as a mark of respect to our deceased Associate David Heebinger who departed this life at an early hour this day, the following resolutions were offered and unanimously adopted:

The death of David Heebinger our Associate Director calls for the expression from this Board of the high esteem in which we regarded him as a citizen, and as a friend and particularly as our Associate on this Board.

He was one of the organizers of this Association in 1871 and a Director during its entire existence for many years was Vice President but declined a reelection on account of his advanced years.

He was an important factor in its history and was one of the most efficient members of the Board, his long experience and fine judgment rendering him a safe and valuable counselor in the placing of loans and in the business of the Association.

He was one of the pioneers in the establishment of Building Association in Maysville and its last member of the Board of Directors of the first Building Association in this city of which this is the successor.

We feel that this community has lost one of its best citizens. He was generous in a broad sense, always ready to assist in every good work and contribute liberally of his means for Public Enterprise and Public Charity, and to all races and classes and faiths.

It is the wish of this Board to attend the funeral in a body.

It is ordered that this minute be spread on our records, a copy transmitted to his family with the assurance of our sympathy and a copy furnished the newspapers of our city for publication.

J. T. BARBOUR, President.
THOMAS M. RISSELL, Secretary.

SUCCESSORS TO J. WESLEY LEE

11 TO 1 VICTORY

Won by Maysville From All Professionals of Cincinnati Sunday Afternoon—Locals Lost Saturday Game.

Maysville defeated the fast Cincinnati All Stars at League Park Sunday afternoon by the score of 11 to 1 before a fair sized crowd of anxious and interested fans.

The All Stars made their first and only run in the first inning on a single by Meyers and a triple by Williams. After that time Singleton was invincible, allowing only three more scattered hits in the remaining five innings that he was on the mound. Few took up the burden for the locals in the seventh and allowed only two hits.

Dacey pitched good ball for the victors until the sixth inning when five hits, two hit batsmen and two errors were good for eight runs. Dacey retired at the end of the sixth in favor of Kellerman, who did not show much to fool the locals, and three more runs were made off his delivery.

The score follows:

Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
All Professionals 1 0 0 0 0 0 7 8—1
Maysville 11 0 0 0 0 8 0 3 11

THE YETEL MEETINGS

With large attendances and under favorable circumstances the Yetel Meetings in this city have been started. In the morning Evangelist Yetel stated positively and plainly the character of a meeting he thought best to hold. He thinks that conventionalities have no place in a successful revival, but that informality with religious fervor will give the Gospel preaching the greatest effectiveness. The morning address could not be called a sermon but as he said it was more of an extemporaneous talk with the purpose of setting the meeting properly before the members and have the evangelist in his plan to be understood.

In the evening at the Growers Warehouse before a large crowd a forceful sermon on "Flowers That Grow in Unexpected Places." In this sermon he described some of the conditions under which the early Christians lived, especially those of Caesar's household, and then described a saint whom in the sermon he showed to be a flower in unexpected place.

He stated that unless a man could be a saint on Monday and the other week days, he could not be one on Sunday. Though a saint is not necessarily a perfect Christian, for there are no such, yet there are certain conditions which must be met before one can be termed a saint. In his addresses, Mr. Yetel holds his audience to the closest attention. He proves himself to be able to meet conditions and to cloth his message in words that all understand.

In these initial services, Earle Carsley, the director of music in these meetings proved himself to be a soloist of marked ability. His morning solo "The Old, Old Story of True" and the two solos in the evening were very well received. It is not saying too much to place him on the plane equal to any who have recently appeared on any of our recent Lyceum numbers. By his persistence, he succeeded in getting the large audience to sing. From yesterday's effort it is evidenced that the meeting will be a help to those of all classes and every church. Both the singing and the preaching will bring devotion and conviction to the hearts of all who attend.

The services tonight will begin at 7:30, the subject of the sermon being "What is the Use of a Church?"

DON'T DESPISE RICHES.

When you find a person who pretends to despise riches, you find a person who, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, is shiftless and thriftless. It is an honorable and just wish to desire honorable and just riches. It is a wish that every one can realize. It is a wish that is within YOUR power. Start an account here. Add to it just as rapidly as you can—and before you know it you will find that YOU—yes, really YOU—are rich.

"Robinson Crusoe might despise riches—so may a savage; but no sane and civilized man will hold them in contempt."—Dr. Chatfield.
